The nursing staff of the maternity wards educated the mothers in their wards regarding benefits of breastfeeding; expression of breast milk; diet during breastfeeding and effects of poor breastfeeding practices. Refreshments were served to the mothers after the health education.

Ms Darryl Aranha, Asst Professor, OBG Nursing Department was interviewed by the The Hindu and the article was published.

Mothers told to be committed to breastfeeding schedule

Staff Correspondent

MANGALURU: Women can continue working in offices while staying committed to the breastfeeding schedule, says Darryl M.S. Aranha, Assistant Professor, Department of Obstetrics and Gynaecology Nursing, Father Muller College of Nursing.

Talking to The Hindu on the occasion of the breastfeeding week that began on August 1, Dr. Aranha said women need not be in a dilemma while they have to choose between breastfeeding and going back to work. "Both activities can peacefully coexist," she said.

Regular breaks

Dr. Aranha said if the house was nearby, women could take regular breaks to breastfeed her child. If not, she could pump breast milk at the scheduled time and store it at a safe and undisturbed place in office.

'Women need not be in a dilemma while they have to choose between breastfeeding and going back to work'

Dr. Aranha said women's breast fills with milk during a particular time in the day.

Following a diet

It was necessary for a working breastfeeding mother to follow a diet that enhances production of breast milk and helps continue breastfeeding till the child was two years old.

A well-balanced diet should contain fibre, calcium, iron, Vitamin C, dry fruits, nuts and fat. Care should be taken against eating spicy food, raw banana and raw mango. Feeding mothers should avoid too much of cabbage, potato and cauliflower. She should also avoid eating

On 6th August, a health education was organized at the Primary Health Centre of Jeppu and Community Health Centre at Bantwal. The students enacted a play and educated the women visiting the health centre on breastfeeding and its benefits, methods of breastfeeding, expression of breast milk and storage, benefits of breastfeeding over bottle feeding, breast complications due to poor breastfeeding practices, features of healthy breastfeed baby, contraindications of breastfeeding and drugs prohibited during breastfeeding. Doctors from Medical College clarified the doubts of the mothers and motivated the mothers to continue breastfeeding until the child is two years old. Pamphlets on breastfeeding, prepared by the department, were distributed following the talk. Sweets were distributed to the women and children after the programme.

On 7th August 2015, the Women and Child Development Society of Bantwal Taluk organized a programme for the mothers at the Anganwadi of Community Health Centre, Bantwal. The students and staff of OBG Nursing department put up a health talk educating the women on importance of breastfeeding. Various areas of the theme were also depicted in the play and it was well appreciated by the organizers and the audience. The programme ended with lunch.

Report on Health Education

On December 1, 2015, We the OBG students of 3rd year Bsc Nursing Students organized a Health education at the Public Health Centre in Ullal.

December 1st being World Aids Day, Our Topic for the Health Education was on HIV in Pregnancy and Lactation. Around 100-120 patients were present at the Health Education. The Theme of World Aids Day '15 is Getting to Zero: Zero Aids related Death; Zero New Infection and Zero Discrimination.

Getting
zero

The Programme was anchored by Telma and Sweedal. The programme commenced at 9. It started with a prayer song by Surbhi and Group. The programme was then continued on in a dramatic Flash mob on the same issue on the challenges faced by a pregnant Woman whose world turns upside down by the imposing threatening mentality of what the society would do to her because she is infected by HIV. And the skit goes on as the Woman is made to understand by the service workers that Aids is not what it was before. The Skit was performed nicely as the entire 25 member took part in it in some or the other way.

The skit ended with the vote of thanks by Telma and Sweedal. And The Health Education lasted upto 45 minutes. After the programme ended we distributed sweets amongst them and then returned back to the campus.

World Breastfeeding Week inaugurated at Fr Muller College of Nursing, Mangaluru

Bellevison Media Network

Mangaluru, 12 Aug 2016: The World Breast Feeding week was inaugurated at the Hospital Conference Hall of Father Muller Medical College Hospital, recently. Rev Fr Ajith Menezes, Assistant Administrator of Hospital was the chief guest and Dr Naveen Chandra, Taluk Health Officer, Mangaluru was the guest of honor. The theme 'Breast feeding: a key to sustainable development' was unfolded by Dr Naveen Chandra and he enlightened the audience on the importance of breast feeding and focused on the activities of the government in promoting mother and child health. A poster competition was organized on the occasion and best poster was awarded. Rev Fr Ajith Menezes, chief guest congratulated the organizers for observing the week and promoting the practice of natural nourishment through breast feeding. He appreciated the mothers and encouraged them to continue in selflessly giving themselves in sharing their lives in the upbringing of their families.

On 2nd August 2016, a health play on the importance of Breastfeeding was staged by the OBG Nursing post graduate students of the College of Nursing at the Anganwadi of Community Health Centre, Bantwal along with the Women and Child Development Society of Bantwal Taluk. Various areas of the theme were also depicted in the play and it was well appreciated by the organizers and the audience. The programme ended with refreshment.

A periodic health talk on "Breastfeeding" was aired on the public address system of the hospital throughout the week for the benefit of the patients and their relatives by the faculty and students of OBG Nursing Department.

On 3rd August, a quiz on Breastfeeding was conducted by the faculty and students of OBG Nursing Department, for the mothers of the maternity wards. The mothers enthusiastically participated in the quiz competition. Prizes were awarded to those mothers who scored highest points in the quiz.

The video on 'Amritha Bindhu' was displayed at the OBG Outpatient Department by the faculty and students of OBG Nursing Department for all the expectant women and nursing mothers and this display continued for the rest of the week.

On 4th August, a health play was organized in the Urban Health Centre, Jeppu. About 20 mothers benefitted from this. The students enacted a play and educated the women visiting the health centre on breastfeeding and its benefits, methods of breastfeeding, expression of breast milk and storage, benefits of breastfeeding over bottle feeding, breast complications due to poor breastfeeding practices, features of healthy breastfeed baby, contraindications of breastfeeding and drugs prohibited during breastfeeding. Doctors from Medical College clarified the doubts of the mothers and motivated the mothers to continue breastfeeding until the child is two years old. Followed by the health play, video on breastfeeding (Amritha Bindu) was played.

On 5th August 2015, a health play on Importance of Breastfeeding was staged by the OBG Nursing post graduate students of the College of Nursing at the Obstetrics and Gynaecology OPD for all mothers.

On 6th August Health talk was staged by the students and faculty of OBG Nursing Department of the College of Nursing at the maternity ward for all mothers and their caretakers.

NSS REPORT ON PROCESSION AGAINST CHILD LABOR 16-17

NSS unit of Father Muller college of nursing took part in World Day Against Child Labour programme organised by the district administration, Zilla Panchayat, District Legal Services Authority, Labour Department, Child Helpline and Bar Association in the city on June 12, Monday; Additional Deputy Commissioner Mr Kumar inaugurated the programme.

A procession started from Hampankatta circle to Townhall carrying placards of various slogans related to prevention of child labour, the main motto of this programme was to create an awareness about the child labour and its legal consequences. The district administration had initiated a move to declare Dakshina Kannada district as child labour-free district in two years ago. Principal District and Sessions judge K S Bilagi said that focus should be given to education to save children from the menace of the child labour. Child labour deprives children of freedom, equal opportunities and a fulfilled childhood. "When the society considers children as Gods, why to engage them for work? To fulfil the selfish needs of people, children are employed as labourers. There is a need to nurture the innocence in children and allow them to enjoy their childhood," he added.

District Legal Services Authority member secretary Mallana Gowda Patil, CWC chairperson Nikhesh Shetty and others were present.

Programme ended at 12.45 with a vote of thanks by Mr Srinivasa.
